

The week ahead...

Autumn 1 Week 2: w/c 12th September 2022

Good morning,

Well done for reaching the end of the first week! There has certainly been a very positive feeling around the school and the children seem to have adapted well to the new academic term – even though it's probably taken us a little longer to adapt!

Whilst we're very mindful of the cost of uniform, we've noticed that there are a number of girls wearing skirts and shoes which isn't part of the active uniform and this will become a problem for their PE lessons. Could we please ask that you have a chat with the parents concerned to make them aware of the need for active clothing every day. Remember, if you have any concerns about anything, please do not hesitate to come and speak to us!

Key events this week:

Events linked to the death of Queen Elizabeth II

During this week, we should take the opportunity to talk about the different events taking place during the 10 days of mourning. These are events that we have never experienced and are moments in History that we should recognise and talk about during our class time.
