

The week ahead...

Spring 2 Week 2: w/c 6th March 2023

Good morning,

First week is done and dusted and amazingly, there's only 4 weeks left! Well done to Alice and Charlotte for organising an amazing 'World Book Week' this week! I think we all enjoyed the comfy clothing on Tuesday and were overwhelmed by the turnout for the Brew, Book and a Bake on the afternoon. It really was wonderful to see so many of our parents reading with their children and this was felt this morning over breakfast too. Let's hope this carries on at home and, if the crowds at the book fair yesterday are anything to go by, there shouldn't be any reason why our children shouldn't be reading outside of school!

Key events this week:

Liturgical Assembly at 9am - lead Year 6.

Lent 2023

Here are the charitable events taking place during Lent this year.

Friday 10th March - CAFOD family fast day

19 children have signed up so they are the only children wearing their own clothes. Soup is available if you would like to take part,

Friday 17th March - Wear something funny for Comic Relief

The children should wear something funny on this day and bring in a donation for Comic Relief.

Friday 24th March - Father Hudson's Good Shepherd Appeal

We'd like the children to bring back their boxes on this day but also, if they are able, bring in a donation for the charity in return for wearing their own clothes.

Friday 31st March - Lighthouse Group Charity Day

The Our Common Home Group would like to raise some money for some new plants and so, on this day, the children can wear their own clothes and bring in a donation for their fundraising appeal.

Song of the week

Well, my birthday falls on Tuesday so it's probably my turn for the song of the week. There are many songs that I love, depending on what mood I'm in, but I've always loved Snow Patrol so it has to be one of their songs. I've gone for one that I've belted out many a time at one of their gigs so enjoy a little bit of 'You're all I have' by Snow Patrol!

Have a wonderful half term!
Paul, Alison and Rachel
